Well that's exactly how I feel about Agent of Darkness, the third book in the Dark Fae FBI book. This book was pure awesomeness. The authors have ramped everything up tenfold and it was just so exciting to read that I found it incredibly difficult to book the down (FYI, don't start reading this book just before going to bed).

Agent of Darkness is the third book in C.N. Crawford's Dark Fae FBI series, and, true to its name, it's one hellavuh trip into darkness. This book has by far been my favourite book in the series (perhaps Cassandra and I share a love of dark, twisty, and complicated things, LOL) and Agent of Darkness takes the action which has been evident throughout the entire series and ramps it up a notch, or ten.

Agent of Darkness
(Dark Fae FBI, #3)
by C.N. Crawford

Cassandra is an ex-FBI profiler who is also a pixie and a type of fae that feeds off of human fear. Roan is a fae whose entire family was slaughtered by an evil terror Fae, so he wants to hate Cassandra, but quickly realizes he can't. Cassandra is dragged into the fae world by family she didn't know she had.

The second book in the Dark Fae FBI series carries on with as much action packed tension as the first. I loved the first book in this series and the second was just as good. I love that this is set in London as it's my home city and the authors are incredibly accurate with their descriptions of the city and the places.

Agent Cassandra Lidell, secret fae FBI agent, is out solving magic mysteries. But when it turns out her BFF, Scarlett, and the CIA already know about Fae and magic, and think they're all evil, humans against fae, Cassandra tries to convince her otherwise. Except her plan goes all wrong, and Scarlett gets kidnapped by none other than an evil fae.

Agent of Enchantment; Dark Fae FBI, Book 1 ... There isn't much that wasn't great about the last book in the dark Fae series. It stretched the span of human emotion's. I would have loved a little more intimacy between the two main characters in this conclusion but otherwise well worth the time and money.
