It is a Prototrak AGE2. It is only 2-axis. I am trying to figure out what post to use. I have heard that the generic Fanuc post will work. So I tried the default one that comes with HSM. I saved the program with a .cam extension and went to the machine. It recognized the program, and appears to have picked up all the moves as events, skipping the Z moves and anything it didn't understand (like ...
