How Change Happens is a new book from Duncan Green which explores the major themes that make change happen in the world. Whether you are an activist, campaigner, development practitioner, lobbyist, entrepreneur, individual or an organisation, it seeks to understand how power and systems shape change, and how you can influence them.

How Change Happens - Duncan Green

Theory of Change is essentially a comprehensive description and illustration of how and why a desired change is expected to happen in a particular context. It is focused in particular on mapping out or “filling in” what has been described as the “missing middle” between what a program or change initiative does (its activities or interventions) and how these lead to desired goals being achieved.

In an organisational theory of change approach, after reflecting how change happens for the end users through an organisation-neutral standpoint, the process leads you to reflect and critique a systems and power analysis on how this change can most effectively be achieved, recognising the complexity of the operating environments and the multitude of enablers and barriers.

Theory of Change for Organisations

How Change Happens contains the accumulated experience of years spent engaged in the field, researching and writing about reducing poverty and combating injustice and, as the author says, trying to, "do justice to the complexity of the world, while still believing there is a story about how it can be changed for the better."
