HOW TO WRITE NURSING NOTES

Documentation, or rather 'good' client documentation, is the cornerstone of quality care outcomes. Well written care plans along with detailed progress or case notes both support and demonstrate quality care. In our experience working across many services, one of the common reasons that organisations fail aspects of their quality review or audit is not because they don't provide quality care, but because their documentation is not in order.

8 Reasons Why Client Documentation is Important in Aged Care

Health services need to keep good written records of the care given to patients/clients for three main reasons: To make sure the care and treatment can continue to be given safely no matter which staff are on duty, 24 hours a day, seven days a week To record the care that has been given to the patient/client To make sure there is an accurate record to be used as 'evidence' when there is a complaint from a patient/client about the care they have received.
