Classification And Regression Trees Stanford University

A Classification and Regression Tree (CART) is a predictive algorithm used in machine learning. It explains how a target variable's values can be predicted based on other values. It is a decision tree where each fork is a split in a predictor variable and each node at the end has a prediction for the target variable.

A Beginner's Guide to Classification and Regression Trees

The term Classification And Regression Tree (CART) analysis is an umbrella term used to refer to both of the above procedures, first introduced by Breiman et al. in 1984. Trees used for regression and trees used for classification have some similarities - but also some differences, such as the procedure used to determine where to split.
