The novel's title, 'Road Closed' refers to the after effects of a house fire in which a man loses his life, but it may also have a metaphorical significance as events in Geraldine's private life are revealed. Like 'Cut Short', 'Road Closed' is not, strictly speaking, a whodunit. As the body count climbs, we know who the murderer is.

`Road Closed' is Leigh Russell's second novel - and the second in the D.I. Geraldine Steel series. For those who have read and enjoyed the first, Cut Short, the good news is that this new book is every bit as good, if not better, than that first instalment. The author keeps to a similar structure with this novel: the chapters are brief which helps to keep the story moving at a good pace
