A Journey into Lake District History. At the age of five, Angus Winchester moved with his family to Cockermouth in the north of the Lake District, close to Buttermere, Loweswater and Crummock Water. So began a life-long love of a Lakeland valley and a fascination for the history which shaped it. The Language of the Landscape combines these two in a passionate and scholarly examination of the effect of place on our lives and imagination.

Spirn’s Language of Landscape expands upon and deepens Lynch’s work, incorporating lessons on environmental assessment from her mentor Ian McHarg, the poetry of T.S. Eliot, the landscape designs of Frederick Law Olmsted, the “land as architecture” ethos of Frank Lloyd Wright (Spirn 1968, 127), the lesser known works of Australian architect Glenn Murcutt, Danish Landscape Architect C. Th. Sørensen and many others, proposing that landscape is a language, with nouns, verbs and ...

Language Landscape

Linguistic landscape is the "visibility and salience of languages on public and commercial signs in a given territory or region". Linguistic landscape has been described as being "somewhere at the junction of sociolinguistics, sociology, social psychology, geography, and media studies". It is a concept used in sociolinguistics as scholars study how languages are visually used in multilingual societies, from large metropolitan centers to Amazonia. For example, some public signs in Jerusalem are i
