Another belief is that life’s building blocks first formed elsewhere in the universe and arrived here embedded in meteors. But that does not answer the question of how life began; it just pushes the issue from earth into space. Scientists speculate about the existence of molecules that preceded genetic material as we know it today.

How Did Life Start—Creation or Evolution?
The origin of life on Earth is a scientific problem which is not yet solved. There are many ideas, but few clear facts. Most experts agree that all life today evolved by common descent from a single primitive lifeform. It is not known how this early life form evolved, but scientists think it was a natural process which happened about 3,900 million years ago. This is in accord with the philosophy of naturalism: only natural causes are admitted. It is not known if metabolism came first or genetics

How did life begin and evolve on Earth, and has it evolved elsewhere in the Solar System? Microbial life forms have been discovered on Earth that can survive and even thrive at extremes of high and low temperature and pressure, and in conditions of acidity, salinity, alkalinity, and concentrations of heavy metals that would have been regarded as lethal just a few years ago.

How did life begin and evolve on Earth, and has it evolved ...
"An individual human life begins at conception when a sperm cell from the father fuses with an egg cell from the mother, to form a new cell, the zygote, the first embryonic stage. The zygote grows and divides into two daughter cells, each of which grows and divides into two grand-daughter cells, and this cell growth/division process continues on, over and over again.

When Does Life Begin | Just The Facts
According to this theory, life began in a pool of water, called ‘soup’ because it was rich with the kinds of chemicals needed to make life. Suddenly something happened – perhaps a bolt of lightning hit one of the pools – and the chemicals reacted and formed more complicated chemicals.
