Sometimes equations have no solution. This means that no matter what value is plugged in for the variable, you will ALWAYS get a contradiction. Watch this tutorial and learn what it takes for an equation to have no solution.

What Does It Mean When An Equation Has No Solution ...

Many students assume that all equations have solutions. This article will use three examples to show that assumption is incorrect. Given the equation $5x - 2 + 3x = 3(x+4)-1$ to solve, we will collect our like terms on the left hand side of the equal sign and distribute the 3 on the right hand side of the equal sign. $5x \dots$ then there are "infinite solutions", meaning, when graphed, the two equations would form the same line. If the variables disappear, and you get a statement that is never true, such as $0 = 5$ or $4 = 7$ then there is "no solution", meaning, when graphed, the two equations would form parallel lines, which never intersect.

Examples - Algebra House

No Solution A no solution equation is when no matter what, no number will make the equation true. So if you substitute the variable with a number, both sides will not be equal.

One Solution, No Solution, Infinitely Many Solutions - Home

"No solution" means that there is no value, not even 0, which would satisfy the equation. Also, be careful not to make the mistake of thinking that the equation $4 = 5$ means that 4 and 5 are values for x that are solutions. If you substitute these values into the original equation, you'll see that they do not satisfy the equation.

What does infinitely many solutions mean? - Quora

No x can magically make 3 equal 5, so there's no way that you could make this thing be actually true, no matter which x you pick. So if you get something very strange like this, this means there's no solution. On the other hand, if you get something like 5 equals 5-- and I'm just over using the number 5. It didn't have to be the number 5.
