"Singularity" refers to a hypothetical point in the future when artificial intelligence will surpass human intelligence. The Last Firewall is the third book in the Singularity series by independent author, William Hertling, and takes place in a post-singularity world. I have not read the first two books, but did not feel that that kept me from enjoying this book.

The Last Firewall is set sometime in the middle of the twenty-first century years after Williams and Tsarev each triggered the singularity with dreadful consequences (including an AI war). Affluent adults in the United States now benefit from chips implanted in their brains that dramatically increase their intelligence.
