Complications

A Surgeon's Notes on an Imperfect Science Metropolitan Books

A brilliant and courageous doctor reveals, in gripping accounts of true cases, the power and limits of modern medicine. Sometimes in medicine the only way to know what is truly going on in a patient is to operate, to look inside with one's own eyes. This book is exploratory surgery on medicine itself, laying bare a science not in its idealized form but as it actually is -- complicated, perplexing, and profoundly human. Atul Gawande offers an unflinching view from the scalpel's edge, where science is ambiguous, information is limited, the stakes are high, yet decisions must be made. In dramatic and revealing stories of patients and doctors, he explores how deadly mistakes occur and why good surgeons go bad. He also shows us what happens when medicine comes up against the inexplicable: an architect with incapacitating back pain for which there is no physical cause; a young woman with nausea that won't go away; a television newscaster whose blushing is so severe that she cannot do her job. Gawande offers a richly detailed portrait of the people and the science, even as he tackles the paradoxes and imperfections inherent in caring for human lives. At once tough-minded and humane, Complications is a new kind of medical writing, nuanced and lucid, unafraid to confront the conflicts and uncertainties that lie at the heart of modern medicine, yet always alive to the possibilities of wisdom in this extraordinary endeavor. Complications is a 2002 National Book Award Finalist for Nonfiction.

Applying Philosophy to life Hachette UK

A refreshing distillation of insights into the human condition, by one of the best-known and most popular philosophers in the UK. Thinking about life, what it means and what it holds in store does not have to be a despondent experience, but rather can be enlightening and uplifting. A life truly worth living is one that is informed and considered so a degree of philosophical insight into the inevitabilities of the human condition is inherently important and such an approach will help us to deal with real personal dilemmas. This book is an accessible, lively and thought-provoking series of linked commentaries, based on A. C.

Grayling's 'The Last Word' column in the GUARDIAN. Its aim is not to persuade readers to accept one particular philosophical point of view or theory, but to help us consider the wonderful range of insights which can be drawn from an immeasurably rich history of philosophical thought. Concepts covered include courage, love, betrayal, ambition, cruelty, wisdom, passion, beauty and death. This will be a wonderfully stimulating read and act as an invaluable guide as to what is truly important in living life, whether facing success, failure, justice, wrong, love, loss or any of the other profound experience life throws out.

Your Guide to Excellent Essay Writing!

The art of presenting one's own argument can take time to develop, and even longer to master. Many dread the thought of public speaking as developing original arguments and counter arguments can be daunting. Thinking of discussion topics spontaneously in front of an audience is intimidating for most individuals. However, what if one was to take away the audience and replace speech with writing, would that be slightly less confronting? Perhaps for some, but written forms of speeches and argumentative pieces in the form of essays can be equally daunting for others. Either way, in order to pass the GAMSAT the great obstacle to your medical career, one is bound to prepare for the daunting task of perfecting essays unless one wishes to approach it unprepared. This essay collection does not consist of perfect essays, but rather examples of essays that were written by myself in preparation of my own GAMSAT. Having successfully passed the GAMSAT and entered medical school, a collection of non-polished essays completed under time restrictions are published in this collection. This approach has been purposely chosen to assist future applicants with an insight into the preparation of a previous applicant and to learn from common errors.
