100 Year Starship 2013 Public Symposium Conference ...

The winning bid to spearhead the 100 Year Starship effort was the Dorothy Jemison Foundation for Excellence, partnering with Icarus Interstellar and the Foundation for Enterprise Development, led by the American physician and former NASA astronaut Mae Jemison. In 2013, the consortium was awarded a $500,000 grant for further work. The new organization maintains the organizational name 100 Year Starship.

100 Year Starship - Wikipedia

Discussions at the first 100 Year Starship Public Symposium focused on identifying and discussing future scientific challenges. The event promoted a compelling dialog among academia, business, the public, and government about issues related to long term, long distance space exploration with the intent that the knowledge gained would be directly relevant to the Department of Defense.

This logo is made from stars. It's a dynamic star map that shows the closest star to you directly overhead when you look up. And since the Earth is constantly moving, our logo features different stars based on where you are and what time it is.

Starship - 100YSS

The 100 Year Starship 2015 Public Symposium challenges participants to consider what specific capabilities and systems — scientific, technical and societal — will be needed over the next 5-25 years; not to merely suggest or catalog earth analogue candidate exoplanets, but to identify at least one definitive Earth 2.0—and to consider how such a discovery itself will impact our world and ...
