Step 2: design your nature trail. Draw a map of the trail to help your family find their way round it. Mark on it the things they need to look out for, such as a fallen tree, a patch of wild flowers, or a bridge over a winding stream. You could even add some fun facts about the things they'll see along the way.

Red Maple is a medium-sized tree that can grow up to 25 metres tall, with a trunk that's 60 centimetres in diameter. This hardy tree species can be differentiated from the sugar maple by the sharp notches between the leaf lobes. This tree also has red twigs in the winter, red buds in the spring, and bright red/purple leaves in the fall.

Trail trees, trail marker trees, crooked trees, prayer trees, thong trees, or culturally modified trees are hardwood trees throughout North America that Native

Americans intentionally shaped with distinctive characteristics that convey that the tree was shaped by human activity rather than deformed by nature or disease. A massive network of constructed pre-Columbian roads and trails have been well documented across the Americas, and in many places remnants can still be found of trails used by hu
