Imagined, Imaged, Believed, or Dreamed. By Paul Loomis, ASX, January 2012. Wolfgang Tillmans' Neue Welt

(New World) is littered with diverse images that are fearlessly juxtaposed. On the surface they seem to examine and reveal nothing, but through a complex interplay of abstraction and fanatic attention to themes and details, Tillmans weaves an intricate web of relation.

Neue Welt is an intricate and layered picture of contemporary life as well as a new step in Tillmans's ongoing investigation into the photographic medium. Over the period of more than two decades, Wolfgang Tillmans has explored the medium of photo-imaging with greater range than any other artist of his generation.

Wolfgang Tillmans is one of the most in-demand contemporary artists working today. His series Neue Welt is a photographic document of our time. To create it, Tillmans spent four years making small trips, criss-crossing the globe, to find and capture subjects and places in new ways. It also marks the first time he used a digital camera.
