Legally Binding Contracts & Terms: Basics of Contract Law

There is always a contract between an employee and employer. You might not have anything in writing, but a contract still exists. This is because your agreement to work for your employer and your employer's agreement to pay you for your work forms a contract. Your employer has to give you a written statement within 2 months of you starting work.

Keelings claimed Haskiya was given two days' paid leave to consider the agreement and to take legal advice on the matter, and that he then returned a signed copy of the agreement.

Before the WRC Keelings argued that the terms of the agreement clearly set out Haskiya's waiver of rights under employment protection legislation including the Unfair Dismissals Act
