God S No And God

But sometimes God answers our prayer with a definite “No,” and when that’s the case, we shouldn’t keep begging Him or demanding He give us a “Yes.” Remember: God loves us and knows far better than we do what’s best for us.

Sometimes we must accept God's answer as "No"

By no means. It is precisely the contention of the Bible and Christian theology that God has not abandoned the human race to its fate. He not only offers forgiveness and eternal life to those who turn to Him and reconnect with their Creator; He also promises eventually to judge the wicked and redeem Creation.

Is There No God? - bethinking.org

He's saying in the face of disappointment: God is not a God of no. He always keeps his promises. One of the great tragedies of mediocre faith and biblical illiteracy is that we can confuse our dreams with God's promises. We can begin to believe that simply because we have a strong desire for something, or a deep longing, or we can't imagine ourselves without it, that God intends it for us.

No gods, no masters is an anarchist and labour slogan. It has been in common use by anarchists in England since the late 19th century. The journal Commonweal, for instance, includes an article by John Creaghe from Sheffield in which he records that the Sheffield Telegraph newspaper 'was furious when it found we were Anarchists with "Neither God nor Master" for our motto'. An early 20th century usage is evident in a pamphlet handed out by the Industrial Workers of the World during the 1912 Lawren

Atheism is in the broadest sense an absence of belief in the existence of deities. [1][2][3][4] Less broadly, atheism is a rejection of the belief that any deities exist. [5][6] In an even narrower sense, atheism is specifically the position that there are no deities. [1][2][7][8] Atheism is contrasted with theism, [9][10] which in its most general form is the belief that at least one deity exists.

Atheism - Wikipedia

"There's no evidence that God doesn't exist." This argument is often offered as a last line of defense in religious debates, and the person posing it might feel very clever coming up with it. However, the premise of the argument is both flawed and ridiculous. The failure to disprove something does not constitute proof of its existence.

Many believers try to rationalize God's existence by saying something like this: "The existence of the universe proves God's existence. Something had to create the universe. Science has no explanation for the universe's creation. Therefore, God created it." The way to understand that this is a rationalization is to look back in history.
