The CLK goes down the

'looking good' rather than 'feeling sporty' coupé route. Its sleeker shape and big pillarless doors lend it a more sophisticated air than a Mercedes saloon. It's a competent driver and the more powerful variants can call upon considerable straight-line performance. But it feels more at home cruising to boutiques and beauty parlours or commanding respect in the office car park rather than chasing down twisty roads.

The second generation model was launched in Coupe form in Autumn 2002 (almost a year before the Cabriolet version) and featured a new, much stiffer platform based on the latest post-2000 C-class. This enabled a pillar-less side window profile and provided for much improved handling.
