Accordingly, the consummation of the missionary mandate to make disciples of all nations (Matthew 28:19) is described in Revelation 5:9 as persons from "every tribe and language and people and nation" worshiping the Lamb and declaring the infinite worth of his glory. So the apostolic vocation (Romans 1:5) and the messianic example of Christ (Romans 15:9) and the consummation of all missions (Revelation 5:9) have one explicit aim: to display the glory of Christ through the ingathering of ...

Why Every Tribe and Language and People and Nation ...

Hay's From Every People and Nation is a great introductory text on race and ethnicity in the Bible. His exposition on the Genesis chapters are great, useful, and relevant for today. However in reading through it, I realized that Hays' focus is a quite limited in that he seems to be working from a primarily an American point of view, more specifically regarding racial tensions between Blacks and Whites.

As well as focusing on texts which have a general bearing on race, From Every People and Nation demonstrates that black Africans from Cush (Ethiopia) play an important role in both Old and New Testament history.

From Every People and Nation - LifeWay

Summary. 'After this I looked and there before me was a great multitude that no-one could count, from every nation, tribe, people and language...' (Revelation 7:9) Race is a central biblical theme, and yet has been neglected in much evangelical scholarship. Daniel Hays offers a thorough foundational study, ranging from Genesis to Revelation, which includes careful examination of references to Cushites (black Africans).

From Every People and Nation (Paperback) - J Daniel Hays ...

J. Daniel Hays' From Every People and Nation presents an introduction to the Bible's teaching on race from Genesis to Revelation. Genesis 10-12, in particular the Table of Nations, the Tower of Babel episode, and Yahweh's promise to Abraham to bless the nations through him, serve as key passages for Hays' interpretive approach.
